$100 REWARD! $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by all Druggists. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Stomach Distress.

Every family here ought to keep some Diapiesin in the house, as any one of you may have an attack of Indigestion or Stomach trouble at any time, day or night.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour stomach five minutes after taking.

If your meals don't tempt you, or what little you do eat seems to fill you, or lays like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of Indigestion.

Ask your Pharmacist for a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapiesin and take one triangle after supper tonight. There will be no sour ricing, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, Nausea, Debilitating Headaches, Dizziness or Intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapiesin is a certain cure for all stomach misery, because it will take hold of your food and digest it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Actual, prompt relief for all your stomach misery is at your Pharmacist, waiting for you.

These large 50-cent cases contain more than sufficient to cure a case of Dyspepsia or Indigestion.

PEKIN PROBLEMS.

SURELY it must be gratifying to every citizen of our town who has the prosperity of the place at heart to see the increased attendance at Hazel Green Academy. Notwithstanding the fact that many teachers now engaged with public schools are yet to matriculate the attendance at the close of school, Wednesday evening, was 275. Every year, say, every session the attendance at this school increases, and it is well to say that the school also improves with each succeeding term. No where in the state can a young man or young woman secure so much instruction, and at the same time be comfortably roomed and fed as they can at our own Hazel Green Academy. It behooves every parent in the land to encourage the school by sending their children to it and speaking a good word for it. The liberality of the C. W. B. M. in maintaining the institution with a full faculty at an immense outlay should be appreciated by all our people. It is with the C. W. B. M. indeed a labor of love, as the revenue derived from it is not more than 25 per cent of the expense. Citizens, friends, Christians, good people all should do everything within their means to help along the good cause of education. Look at the young men and women who have been students here in the past and in the positions of trust and honor they now hold by reason of the instruction received here. We could name scores and scores of them, but many of you know of them as well. Hazel Green Academy has been a Godsend to this section of the mountains and we can not do too much for it with our utmost efforts, but let us do all we can.

AGAIN we rise to inquire why the list of claims allowed in this county has not been published? Many taxpayers want to know what use is made of the money collected for county purposes, and they intimate that fraud could easily be practiced where the claims allowed are not published. And in this they are correct, while no one will say that it is so in our county. The law is very explicit in the matter, and says they must be published in the paper, if there be a paper in the county. Whoever is responsible should see to this at once.

There is one state in which a divorce can not be obtained—the state of single blessed.

Hon. Kelly Kash.

THE HERALD is not disposed to take the position as an advocate of the cause of Republican candidates, but when it is a contest between Republicans, or a controversy in which there is no Democrat to choose, it seems that there is no impropriety in choosing the best from among the camp of the enemy.

Kelly Kash, the present Commonwealth's Attorney in this district, is a candidate for re-election, and while we are not informed as to whether he is to have opposition for the nomination in the Republican ranks, we feel that it is not improper to say that he should have the nomination without opposition. He was appointed to fill a vacancy in this office by a Republican Governor, and within a few months after his appointment, and less than a year ago, there was a spirited contest waged in a Republican primary for the nomination to fill the unexpired term, and by his own party he was given the nomination over two other strong candidates by a majority of more than twelve hundred over the candidate nearest to him, and was afterwards elected to the office in a heated contest by a majority of 786. Thus it will be seen that his appointment by the Governor and his official record have been endorsed, not only by his own party, but by all the people as well, and it seems that it would be nothing less than injustice to give him opposition for the nomination.

Mr. Kash is a native of Wolfe county, was educated in the public schools of the county and in the Hazel Green Academy, and has always been recognized as a young man of integrity, high character, honesty and ability. He is sober, and, in fact, a foe of intoxicating drinks and intemperance, with good habits and Christian character. For the past eight years he has been a resident of Jackson, where, with able associates in the practice of law, he has won distinction in his profession, and where he ranks with the foremost younger members of the bar in Eastern Kentucky, and where he is held in high esteem by the people.

Stray Shot From Mexico.

Your erstwhile correspondent is now sojourning with his family in the republic of Mexico. It is a long journey from home to Vera Cruz and return, (5000 miles) but it is well worth the time and money spent. Three days and a half brings you to San Louis Potosi, the ancient capital of the republic and 200 miles in the Torrid Zone. It is 6000 feet above sea level and has a delightful climate, as has nearly all Mexican towns, never hot and seldom frost. Three fourths of the people in Mexico are Indians and are in no higher state of civilization than they were when Cortez found them in 1519. The Mexicans are Indians with an infusion of Spanish blood. San Louis was over 800 years old when the pilgrim fathers landed at Plymouth Rock. In fact Mexico is old. The traditions of the Aztecs and Toltecs go back to 608 A. D. Let those who can, read Prescott's history of Mexico or Lew Wallace's "The Fair God," and he will be amply repaid both in knowledge and entertainment. We next visited Queretaro near which city Maximilian was captured in a cave and near which he and his generals were shot, a chapel now marks the place. Maximilian's coronation chariot is here in the city of Mexico. It was covered with pure gold and brought over from Austria to impress the natives. I witnessed a bull fight at Omertown Sunday. It was a great society event. Eight thousand people turned out, and six bulls of ferocious breeding were killed. It is very cruel sport, yet every visitor must see one to make his trip complete. During the next three weeks we expect to visit the principal cities, cathedrals, temples and ancient ruins and pyramids in this strange land. If I find occasion I will write you again.

KENTUCKY KERNELS

Carefully Collated and Concisely Chronicled.

A company is being organized at Richmond to start a warehouse for the sale of loose leaf burley tobacco.

While waiting on a customer in his store at Frankfort, George B. Salender, Sr., aged 66 years, dropped dead.

The Lexington Chapter, U. D. C., will hold memorial services January 19, the anniversary of the death of Gen. Robert E. Lee.

The Fayette county gun club now has a home of its own. A plot of ground in the east end of High street, Lexington, was secured for the purpose.

For the first time in its history the McCracken county board of tax supervisors adjourned two days after convening without making a single raise.

Fire, supposed to have been started by some hunters, destroyed several stacks of hay and a lot of fencing belonging to Pergram brothers, in Bath county.

President Roosevelt doubts the possibility of stopping over to visit Louisville while on his way to and from the Lincoln celebration at Hodgenville next month.

Governor Willson last week appointed W. C. Hilbert, of Vanceburg, special judge of Whitley Circuit court to conduct a special term to clear the congested docket.

George Freeman, the negro who killed Essie Cobb, also colored, in a Paducah restaurant last March, was sentenced to be hanged. The jury was out only ten minutes.

Mrs. Lizzie Howe, aged 75, died at Flemingsburg last week. She was the great-granddaughter of William Kennan, a pioneer settler of Fleming county. She leaves an estate of $40,000.

Mrs. Nannie Myers, wife of C. J. Myers, a member of the Lexington school board, died from the effects of a paralytic stroke sustained thirteen months ago. She was 57 years of age.

William Boulware, aged 94 years, one of the pioneer citizens of Madison county, died last week at his home from the infirmities of old age. He was the oldest person residing in the county.

George Taylor, a resident of Russell county, was restored to citizenship last week by Governor Willson. In 1883 Taylor was convicted and sentenced to the penitentiary for one year on a charge of shooting at to kill.

Pressly Blevins, a farmer living near Salt Lick, in Bath county, was cutting down a tree, when it fell on him, fatally injuring him. One of his spinal vertebrae and three ribs were broken. He has a wife and three children.

While handling some pups in a box, John Gauss, a Bath county farmer, was bitten by a rabid cat and died in terrible agony within twenty hours. Two of his children were bitten by one of the pups and are in a precarious condition.

George Gordon, who had been out on bail for some time for the killing of Robert Brewer, a neighboring farmer, in a dispute as to their passing on a public road, was indicted by the grand jury of Boyle county and remanded to jail.

An indictment charging murder was returned against Rodman Clark, a well known young man of McCracken county, who is alleged to have forced Vernon Davis, a seven-year-old boy, to drink whiskey, which caused the boy's death.

An exciting chase occurred on the streets of Richmond one night last week when a burglar tried to effect an entrance into the residence of W. T. Griggs. The neighborhood was aroused and a lively chase ensued, but no capture was made.

As a result of a misunderstanding over the resignation of Rev. W. P. Hines, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church in Lexington, sixty-four members of the church formally withdrew from the congregation and will probably organize another church.

The six-year-old daughter of Andrew Wesley, residing near Ansel, in Pulaski county, was burned to death last week. She was playing before an open grate, when her clothes caught fire, and before any of the family came to her aid, was burned to a crisp.

A. H. Chism, the veteran jeweler of Tompkinsville, has in his possession one of the oldest pieces of money in the state. It is a four-dollar bill and well preserved. The bill was authorized by the Continental Congress and is dated February 11, 1776.

The Daviess county armory, located at Owensboro and the second largest in the state, was destroyed by fire at an early hour last Thursday morning. The state lost 58 rifles with bayonets and belts, 850 rounds of ammunition, three swords and three pistols.

Will Hornsby, the negro charged with attempting to assault Miss Nita Powell in Paducah last summer, was last week sentenced to 20 years in the penitentiary. An effort was made to lynch Hornsby soon after the crime, and he was taken to Louisville for safe keeping.

A quarrel over a revolver was the cause of Ed Evans shooting Arthur Nicholson, night watchman at the Farmers' Gin building, in West Hickman. They were together in the building and Nicholson laid his pistol on a desk to make his rounds. When he came back Evans and the pistol had disappeared. He followed Evans, who shot him when he demanded the revolver.

Buggies! Buggies.

The citizens of Hazel Green and this vicinity are herewith informed that they can now buy first-class buggies at home. I am prepared to furnish the best made, and at reasonable prices. I don't handle anything but first-class buggies, and those who want cheap claptrops will have to go elsewhere.

Remember, if you want a FIRST CLASS BUGGY, one that will give satisfaction in comfort and wear, I can supply you.

Call and see me at my shop in Hazel Green. Respectfully,

AMERICA'S GREATEST WEEKLY.

THE TOLEDO BLADE,
TOLEDO, OHIO.

The Best Known Newspaper in the United States.

CIRCULATION - 200,000.

Popular in Every State.

In many respects the TOLEDO BLADE is the most remarkable weekly newspaper published in the United States. It is the only newspaper especially edited for national circulation. It has the largest circulation for more years than any newspaper printed in America. Furthermore, it is the cheapest newspaper in the world, as will be explained to any person who will write for terms. The News of the World so arranged that busy people can more easily comprehend, than by reading cumbersome columns of dailies. All topics made plain in each issue by special editorial matter written from inception down to date. The only paper published especially for people who do not read daily newspapers, and yet thirst for plain facts. That kind of a newspaper is popular, is proven by the fact that the Weekly Blade now has over 200,000 yearly subscribers, and is circulated in all parts of the United States. In addition to the news, the Blade publishes short and serial stories, and many departments of matter suited to every member of the family. Only one dollar a year. Write for free specimen copy. Address,

THE BLADE, Toledo, O.

Some say I am too high,
Prove the truth, give me a try.

Come in and see me and I will surprise you. Have me fix your teeth and if you are not satisfied I lose. Ain't that fair?

THE HERALD.

Mrs. M. O. Carter has the thanks of our better seven-eighths for a dozen nice oranges.

Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Cecil, of near town, visited friends and relatives at Ezel Sunday.

Mrs. Frank Young left on the back yesterday for Jackson, and will make that her home.

Will Ayers moved from the farm of Annie Murphy to the Tom Tolson place, on Murphy fork.

Aunt Liza Nickell, of Lacy creek, has been under treatment of Dr. A. C. Nickell for a week past.

Howard Bailey, of Insko, visited friends and relatives here from Monday until Wednesday morning.

Miss Susie Long will leave Friday (tomorrow) for Hiram, Ohio, where she will matriculate in Hiram College.

Women as a rule preach economy a great deal, but, as a matter of fact, really economical women are scarce.

Joe Lykins and wife and Curtis Walters, of near town, are attending the bedside of Mr. Walter's mother, who is sick on Caney.

Sunday night somebody broke out the glass in the front of Mapel & Troy millinery and took a lot of bananas, oranges and apples.

Miss Garnett, of Columbia, Mo., a graduate of Columbia College, arrived here Monday and will succeed Mrs. Wayne Long as teacher.

Ivy James, of Illinois, and his brother, Andy James, of Montgomery county, are visiting relatives and friends here at their old home.

If you have any saddles or harness that need repairing take them to S. F. Reynolds and see how neatly and cheaply he can do the job.

A postal card received from J. Taylor Day, of Oxford, Ohio, a few days since, says he is in the best of health and hopes to be at home soon.

Miss Caroline Tolson, formerly of Middletown, Ohio, is now house-keeping for Dr. Harry Murphy, of Murphy fork, during the illness of his wife.

The other which was mentioned last week as having been killed by Fred Haddix, now turns out to have been a big black house cat, that belonged to Hiram Blankenship.

Mrs. Wayne Long, one of the teachers at the academy, will leave today for her home at Newark, O., and will be succeeded by another teacher, whose name we failed to learn.

Milt Lykins sent word to Ben Murphy that he can't bring his gas machine on the creek for some time, so he appointed Jolly Dave Banks to fill the place until he returns.

Mrs. William Davis, of Insko, died Friday afternoon and was buried Saturday. She leaves beside her husband, "Uncle Bill," several grown children, among them Henry Wise.

Puckett-Tester.

A quiet little home wedding occurred Saturday, Jan. 9, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Tester, at Halaga, when their daughter, Miss Lizzie Tester, was united in matrimony to Robert Puckett, of Lane. Only a few friends attended the ceremony as it was something of a secret affair. The groom is a thrifty young man, while the bride is one of the most accomplished young ladies of her neighborhood.

Our informant, who is a cousin of the bride, and a student at H. G. A., wishes the young couple much joy, peace and prosperity through life, with but few troubles to mar their happiness, in which THE HERALD joins.

Billie Franklin Schooler, an erstwhile employee of THE HERALD, now located at Lakeside, Ohio, has written and published a song entitled "Be Happy," which is set to ragtime music that is very catchy. We acknowledge the receipt of the song and music, and express the hope that Billie will gain an international reputation through it and make wads of money. It retails at 50c and he will mail copy to all who wish it at that price. Address him at Lakeside, Ohio.

Our columns were so crowded last week that we failed to notice the condition of the Hazel Green Bank, the statement of which appeared in last week's paper. But all who are interested in the success of the institution will be glad to know that it is steadily growing under the management of Cashier Patton, who has increased the business of the bank considerably. The stockholders and directors think him the right man.

S. S. Combs, of Richmond, last week sent us through the courtesy of Charley Rose, a pint or more of rice, which was grown in Jackson county, Texas. His son, Harry Combs, who removed from this county to Texas, raised $3,085 worth last year, and if it were equal to the specimen we received it was sure a fine crop, as all pronounced it nice. Mr. Combs has our thanks for same.

The Farmers and Traders Bank, at Campton, published in THE HERALD last week its semi-annual statement, an examination of which will show that it is in a very healthy condition. J. P. Brissy, the cashier, has given the stockholders of the bank a very economical administration of its affairs, and they are well satisfied with him.

Our lady readers should avail of THE HERALD offer to get a pair of Patent Tension Spring 8-inch Shears. Every subscriber who pays up arrearages and a year in advance may have a pair of these shears for only 25 cents. They retail at $1. Both new and renewal subscribers have the same privilege. Call and see them at this office.

Boone Lacy, of Lacy creek, lost a work mare a few days since under mysterious circumstances. Sunday night she was sound and well, and Monday morning when he went to the barn to feed her he found that her shoulder was broken. There was no place where she could hang her foot, and he is at a loss to know how it was done.

G. B. Reynolds, a brother, and L. M. Reynolds, a son of our fellow townsman, S. F. Reynolds, came in last week from Owsley county, and brought Mr. Reynolds two hogs, a lot of Irish potatoes, cabbages, etc. They remained here over Sunday and left for home Monday.

Uncle Jordan Wills, who makes his home with his daughter, Mrs. C. F. Kash, has been very sick for a week or so past, and owing to the infirmities of old age, is in a critical condition. Dr. Nickell, his attending physician, says he will pull through.

The careful reader of a few good newspapers can learn more in a year than most scholars do in their great libraries.

An Old Subscriber.

Malone, Ky., Jan. 5, 1909.

Spencer Cooper, Hazel Green, Ky. Dear Sir: Please find enclosed $1, for which extend my subscription one more year. I am nearly 83 years old and have been subscribing for newspapers for 60 years, and have lived three miles south of West Liberty for nearly 62 years. I don't remember how long I have been taking THE HERALD, but after taking many different papers from different states, I will say the HAZEL GREEN HERALD gives more interesting news in less space than any paper I ever read. Old as I am I can't be satisfied without it, and how any family can keep house without a newspaper is what I don't understand. Take away or stop the press and a free government is gone. As I am on borrowed time I may not live the year out, but my youngest son, J. Floyd Steele and his wife Katsie Murphy, with their 9 children are living with me, and if I should not live to read it some of them may. I am now taking three weekly papers, "The Clinch Valley News," of my old home, I have been taking for many years. Education and reading are the powers that keep this government together. Hoping you will excuse me as this is the first time I ever wrote to THE HERALD, I am respectfully,

J. W. STEELE.

Save This, Anyway.

Here is a simple home-made mixture as given by an eminent authority on kidney diseases, who makes the statement that it will relieve almost any case of kidney trouble if taken before the stage of Bright's disease. He states that such symptoms as lame back, pain in the side, frequent desire to urinate, especially at night; painful and discolored urination, are readily overcome. Here is the recipe. Try it:

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Take a teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime.

A well-known druggist here in town is authority that these ingredients are all harmless and easily mixed at home by shaking well in a bottle. This mixture has a peculiar healing and soothing effect upon the entire Kidney and Urinary structure, and often overcomes the worst forms of Rheumatism in just a little while. This mixture is said to remove all blood disorders and cure the Rheumatism by forcing the Kidneys to filter and strain from the blood and system all uric acid and foul, decomposed waste matter, which cause these afflictions. Try it if you aren't well. Save the prescription.

Normal School at Campton.

At Kentucky Wesleyan Academy, Campton, Monday, January 18, 1909, a Normal school will be opened, with Mrs. Sue Barnes as principal and Misses Mazie Boothe and Emma Wells, assistants.

Young people desiring to prepare themselves to teach in the public schools will receive special instruction. Pupils in the intermediate and primary departments are solicited and will receive careful training. The music department is in charge of Miss Bess Adecock, of Lexington, who has been connected with the institution as music teacher for several terms and who gives entire satisfaction.

For terms, etc., address, Mrs. SUE W. BARNES, Campton, Ky.

C. W. B. M. Day.

The C. W. B. M. day was celebrated at the Christian church Sunday night and drew the largest crowd that has been within the walls of that edifice for years. The program was a very interesting one as were the addresses of all who took part in the entertainment, and all in all the occasion was one long to be remembered in Hazel Green. Standing room was at a premium which showed the esteem for the C. W. B. M. in this place.

For Sale—Farm of 160 acres, 75 acres bottom land, all timber necessary for farm use, good 6 room dwelling and all out buildings, barn 60x82. Located on State road, 3 miles N. W. of Hazel Green, in a good neighborhood, school, church and store at the door. Fencing in good repair. Terms: Half cash and balance on time to suit purchaser. $3,500 will buy it. Address Spencer Cooper, Hazel Green, or F. P. Clark, Toller, Ky., for further particulars.

Hon. W. O. Mize and son, Carl, left Monday for Louisville, where the latter will consult a specialist and take treatment for pulmonary trouble for a month, after which he will go south for the remainder of the winter. The former will return the latter part of this week.

Charley Clark, of Maytown, was taken down with pneumonia a few days since, and was so ill Tuesday that his son, Prof. Estill Clark, of Cannel City, was summoned to his bedside and passed through here Tuesday evening.

THE VERY BEST.

Have any of our readers seen a recent copy of the Cincinnati Weekly Enquirer? If not, it will pay to send for a copy, if for no other purpose than to note its present great worth as an educator in all things that tend to make life prosperous, and home, the happiest place on earth.

The editor by asking its readers to criticize and suggest improvements; and following advice thus obtained is enabled to produce a paper that exactly fits needs of a family and a material aid to father, mother and children in reaching that higher level in social life, where content and comfort reign supreme.

Father obtains ample information that guides in the where, when and how to regulate and increase the income from his efforts. The mother in management of household affairs, practical economy, government of children, and other duties that makes her toil a labor of love. Children's minds and hearts are freed from thoughts of questionable amusements and frivolities of life, and encouraged to emulate all that is helpful in planning for a useful future in life.

The Grand Idea being that: "As are our Homes, so will be the Community, State and Nation."

A most desirable help, is a non-sectarian sermon each week, as preached by that Biblical Student Pastor Chas. T. Russell; a forcible reminder of the spiritual and temporal rewards gained by righteous living as preferable to a Godless life that brings nought but misery to the home.

Other departments and features are above the ordinary, the unanimous verdict of its readers being: "The cleanest and best family Weekly known to them."

Sample copies may be had by writing to the ENQUIRER COMPANY, Cincinnati, O.

THINKING OF MOVING WEST?

It not, then make up your mind and write me for descriptive list of farms in Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma. All fine, level, productive land that will grow anything under the sun, at prices ranging from $15 to $40 an acre, and come where life is made tolerable by easy, profitable farming. Why sweat and fret life away in the vain effort to eke out a mere miserable subsistence from the rock-ribbed, root-laced hillsides as your father and father's father did, when there is so much good land to be had yet available for a mere song? Get out of the rut—break away from the time-worn habit that keeps your nose to the grindstone. All it takes is resolution and a little nerve. Write me, and let me help you to a better condition.

Sleep

Sleep is nature's rebuilding period, when the energy used by the brain, muscles and organs is renewed. If you lose sleep, your system is robbed of the strength sleep should give. Continued loss of sleep multiplies this loss until you become a physical wreck. Dr. Miles' Nervine quiets the irritated nerves and brings refreshing, invigorating sleep. Nervine contains no opiates, and therefore leaves no bad after-effects.

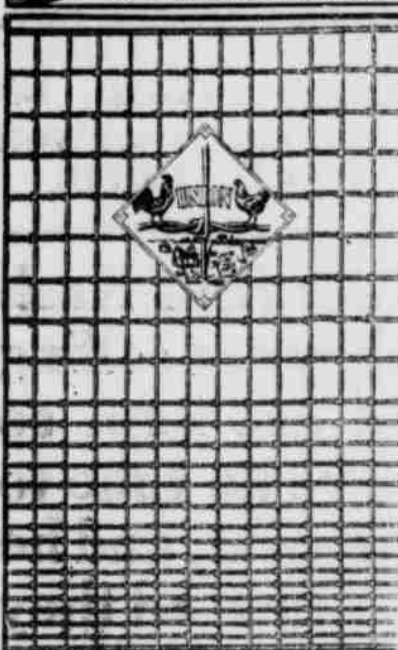

"For over two years I suffered untold agonies; my friends thought I was going crazy. I could not sleep nor rest at all. I tried different doctors, but failed to find relief. My head would ache all the time; I was like one drunk; could not concentrate my mind, and was so restless and worried that sleep was out of the question. After taking one bottle of Dr. Miles' Nervine I felt wonderfully changed. I am now on my third bottle and am gaining all the time. I can lie down and sleep like a child, and am able to do my work."

MRS. MAY SCOTT, English, Ind.

Your druggist sells Dr. Miles' Nervine, and we authorize him to return price of first bottle (only) if it fails to benefit you.

On The Trackless Prairie

A Race For Life. BY BUFFALO BILL.

Copyright 1909 by William F. Cody.

I was riding my horse down into a low depression of the prairie and see Council Springs and the Indians. The Springs rise in this vast plain, and they run for only about four or five miles, when it becomes a small stream of water sinking into the sand. When we gained this ridge, there before the general's eyes were hundreds and hundreds of horses and a large Indian village.

I said: "There you are, general. There are your Indians, camped up there you will look down into a low depression of the prairie and see Council Springs and the Indians." The Springs rise in this vast plain, and they run for only about four or five miles, when it becomes a small stream of water sinking into the sand. When we gained this ridge, there before the general's eyes were hundreds and hundreds of horses and a large Indian village.

Our chief of scouts and guide at that time was Dick Curtis. The outfit was composed of three ambulances, with saddle horses for the general and Indian commissioners, and when the general and commissioners were riding to the ambulances their saddle horses were led by orderlies. The general had three or four staff officers, a company of cavalry as an escort and about thirty scouts and messengers well mounted. These scouts and messengers' duty was that whenever the general wished to send any quick dispatches back to Fort Riley, at that time the nearest telegraph point, those men were to carry them. I was at the time a young scout employed for this purpose.

It was about 2 o'clock in the afternoon, after leaving the fort, that a young officer, one of the general's aids, was riding along talking to me and asking me about when I thought we were going to get to Council Springs, where the Indians were. I told him that if we kept on in the direction we were going we would never get there. He asked, "Why not?" I replied that we were not going in the direction of the Springs; that we were bearing too far to the west.

He said: "Why don't you tell the general this? He is up there in the ambulance." I told him the officers that I was not guiding General Sherman; that Mr. Curtis was the guide and that I had no right to interfere with him whatever, nor did I intend to do so. This young officer (I have forgotten his name) tumbled to the situation, and, galloping ahead, he rode alongside the ambulance and told the general what I had said and explained to him my reasons for not mentioning the situation. The general appreciated it at once and called a halt, climbed out of the ambulance, sent for Mr. Curtis to come back to him, and also for the scouts to come up, of whom I was one. He laid out a large map on the ground, and when we all got near him he said to Mr. Curtis:

"I wish you would show me on this map just where we are."

Mr. Curtis told him, which was perfectly true, that the maps were all so incorrect that it was impossible to go by them.

The general remarked: "Well, then, Mr. Curtis, how far are we from the Springs? From the distance we have traveled since leaving Zarah at 2 o'clock this morning we should be very near them."

Mr. Curtis replied: "General, this is a very level country, as you can see. There are no landmarks, and there are so many thousands of buffaloes all over the prairie that it is pretty hard to tell just where we are and how far we are from the Springs. Furthermore, I have not been over to the Springs for several years, and when I last went there I was not acting as guide. Consequently I feel that I am rather lost myself."

The general, looking at the other scouts, said: "Do any of you know where the Springs are?" The young officer had pointed me out to the general, and he was looking straight at me when he asked the question.

I said, "Yes, general; I know where the Springs are."

"How far are we from them?" asked the general. I told him about eight miles.

He asked in what direction, and I answered, saying they were due south from us now and we were headed dead west. Dick Curtis spoke up and said, "Billy, when were you ever out to the Springs?"

I told him I had been there on two or three different occasions with Charlie Rath, the Indian trader, and had killed many buffaloes all over this country. The general called for his horse, mounted it and said: "Young man, you come and show me the Springs. I will ride with you. Mr. Curtis, come along. No disrespect to you, sir. I appreciate how hard it is for one to find his way in a country where there are no landmarks, level as the sea and covered with buffaloes."

"General Sherman, riding by my side, asked me many questions." around the Springs. He patted me on the back in a fatherly way and said, "My boy, I am going to know you better."

The general and the peace commissioners counseled here for three days, and in the evening of the third day an orderly came to me and told me the general wished me to report to him at his tent. The general kindly invited me in and said: "Billy, I want to go from here now to Fort Kearny, on the Platte river, in Nebraska. How far is it?" I told him the way that he would have to go to have good camping places and that it would be about 300 miles. He asked, "Can you guide me there?" I told him I could, and he said: "All right. We will start tomorrow for Fort Zarah and from there to Fort Riley, and from Fort Riley I want you to guide me to Fort Kearny." Which I did, and on arriving at Fort Kearny the general complimented me and said: "From here I am going to Fort Leavenworth. I wish you to guide me there." I told him that would be easy, for there was a big wagon road from Kearny to Fort Leavenworth. He said: "That is all right. It will make it easier for you. You have guided me safely for over 300 miles where there were no wagon roads, and I am not afraid to trust myself with you on a big wagon road." On arriving at Leavenworth I parted with the general, and he said General Sheridan was coming out to take command in a short time and that he would tell him of me. This was the last time I saw the dear old general for several years. He was one of the loveliest men I have ever had the pleasure of knowing.

One day in the spring of 1868 I mounted Brigham and started for Smoky Hill river. After galloping about twenty miles I reached the top of a small hill overlooking the valley of that beautiful stream. As I was gazing down on the landscape I suddenly saw a band of about thirty Indians nearly half a mile distant. I knew by the way they jumped on their horses that they had seen me as soon as I came in sight.

The only chance I had for my life was to make a run for it, and I immediately wheeled and started back toward the railroad. Brigham seemed to understand what was up, and he struck out as if he comprehended that it was to be a run for life. He crossed a ravine in a few jumps, and on reaching a bridge beyond I drew rein, looked back and saw the Indians coming for me at full speed and evidently well mounted. I would have had little or no fear of being overtaken if Brigham had been fresh. But as he was not I felt uncertain as to how he would stand a long chase.

My pursuers seemed to be gaining on me a little, and I let Brigham shoot ahead again. When we had run about three miles farther some eight or nine of the Indians were not over 200 yards behind, and five or six of these seemed to be shortening the gap at every jump. Brigham now exerted himself more than ever, and for the next three or four miles he got right down to business and did some of the prettiest running I ever saw. But the Indians were about as well mounted as I was, and one of their horses in particular, a spotted animal, was gaining on me all the time. Nearly all the other horses were strung out behind for a distance of two miles, but still chasing after me.

The Indian who was riding the spotted horse was armed with a rifle and would occasionally send a bullet whistling along, sometimes striking the ground ahead of me. I saw that this fellow must be checked or a stray bullet from his gun might hit me or my horse, so, suddenly stopping Brigham and quickly wheeling him around, I raised old "Lucretia" to my shoulder, took deliberate aim at the Indian and his horse, hoping to hit one or the other, and fired. He was not over eighty yards from me at this time, and at the crack of my rifle down went his horse. Not waiting to see if he recovered, I turned Brigham, and in a moment we were again fairly flying toward our destination. We had urgent business about that time and were in a hurry to get there.

The other Indians had gained on us while I was engaged in shooting at their leader, and they sent several shots whizzing past me, but fortunately none of them hit the intended mark. To return their compliment I occasionally wheeled myself in the saddle and fired back at them, and one of my shots broke the leg of one of their horses, which left its rider (as) de combat, as the French would say.

Only seven or eight Indians now remained in dangerous proximity to me, and as their horses were beginning to lag somewhat I checked my faithful old steed a little to allow him an opportunity to draw an extra breath or two. I had determined, if it should come to the worst, to drop into a buffalo wallow, where I could stand the Indians off for awhile, but I was not compelled to do this, as Brigham carried me through most nobly.

The chase was kept up until we came within three miles of the end of the railroad track, where two companies of soldiers were stationed for the purpose of protecting the workmen from the Indians. One of the outposts saw the Indians chasing me across the prairie and gave the alarm. In a few minutes I saw, greatly to my delight, men coming on foot, and cavalrymen, too, galloping to our rescue as soon as they could mount their horses. When the Indians saw this they turned and ran in the direction from which they had come. In a very few minutes I was met by some of the infantrymen and trackmen, and, jumping to the ground and pulling the blanket and saddle off Brigham, I told them what he had done for me. They at once took him in charge, led him around and rubbed him down so vigorously that I thought they would rub him to death.

Captain Nolan of the Tenth cavalry now came up with forty of his men, and upon learning what had happened he determined to pursue the Indians. He kindly offered me one of his cavalry horses, and after putting my own saddle and bridle on the animal we started out after the flying Indians, who only a few minutes before had been making it so uncomfortably lively for me. Our horses were all fresh and of excellent stock, and we soon began shortening the distance between ourselves and the redskins. Before they had gone five miles we overtook and killed eight of their number. The others succeeded in making their escape. On coming up to the place where I had killed the first horse—the spotted one—on my "home run" I found that my bullet had struck him in the forehead and killed him instantly. He was a noble animal and ought to have been engaged in better business.

When we got back to camp I found old Brigham grazing quietly and contentedly on the grass. He looked up at me as if to ask if we had got away with any of those fellows who had chased us. I believe he read the answer in my eyes.

The Meekest Woman.
Sunday School Teacher—William, can you tell me who was the meekest man? William—Yes, ma'am; Moses. Sunday School Teacher—That's right. Now, Tommy, can you tell me the name of the meekest woman? Tommy—No, ma'am; there never was no meekest woman.—Chicago News.

Don't Worry

If you are sick, don't worry, but begin at once to make yourself well. To do this, we but repeat the words of thousands of other sufferers from womanly ills, when we say:

TAKE CARDUI
It Will Help You

For 50 years, this wonderful female remedy, has been benefiting sick women. Mrs. Jennie Merrick, of Cambridge City, Ind., says: "I suffered greatly with female trouble, and the doctors did no good. They wanted to operate, but I took Cardui, and it made me feel like a new woman. I am still using this wonderful medicine, with increasing relief."
